VOLUME XLVII. SUNDAY, MAY 22, 1887—TWENTY-EIGHT PAGES. PRICE

WHIT-SUNDAY

Is the day of the year when every lady should look to her HEADGEAR.

—USE—

Bee-Hive

Always make extraordinary preparations for this occasion. THIS YEAR we announce the Greatest Straw Hat Sale

Ever known or heard of in the U. S.

$25,000.00 REWARD

Will be paid by us if evidence is furnished that we permit any establishment to undersell us.

PREPARE

To do your shopping early in the week.

It is almost impossible to promise to trim any hat to order after Thursday next.

Ten additional Trimmers can find employment at the Bee-Hive, and we promise to pay one-half more wages than they receive elsewhere, provided they are competent. Apply to the Superintendent Monday morning.

CALL IN THE FORENOON.

You will receive so much better attention.

TEA-TALK

OF

C. JEVNE & CO.

It is impossible to describe the flavor of the different varieties of Tea. They are to the palate what the latest cream is colors is to the eye or blended harmonies to the ear—indescribable.

The use of OOLONGS has increased very materially during the past few years. We have some Fine Growths ranging in prices at 30, 40, 50, and 60 cents per pound, and Extra Fine Garden Pickings at 75 and 90 cents per pound.

Next in importance come the "Basket Fired" or "Black" JAPANS, which have a sort of spicy, toasty flavor. We are offering these at 30, 40, 50, and 60 cents per pound, and Extra Choice Garden Pickings at 75 cents per pound.

The "Pan Fired" or "Natural Leaf" JAPANS are of a greenish appearance, and many tea-drinkers prefer them to the above-named "Black" Japans. Our prices range at 30, 40, 50, and 60 cents per pound, and the Very Finest Garden Tea at 75 cents.

The Congous and Souchongs are greatly preferred by the Germans and the English. The demand for these Teas is also increasing. They are heavier in body than the Oolongs and the Japans. Prices are 40, 50, and 60 cents, with the Finest Souchong at 75 cents and the Most Delicate Congou at 90 cents.

There are, however, many old tea-drinkers who demand the Old Green Teas,

GUNPOWDER,
YOUNG HYSON,
AND IMPERIAL,

And will have nothing else, but quite a few of these will diverge from the beaten track by asking for a half of Oolong with their "Green." Prices of these range substantially as the first-named varieties.

Any of these Teas are sold by the pound or half-pound, or in 5-lb. and 10-lb. packages at an adequate reduction, or in original imported chests at a wholesale price. Special inducements to the trade.

TREMENDOUS SUCCESS

OF THE

New Departure

Look Out for Imitators!

We have demonstrated to the hundreds of more than delighted sitters the magnificent quality and finish of our Cabinets, which we furnished them for almost nothing. We are doing this to introduce our work, and expect to win in the end solely on our merits. We do not ask any one to pay for a whole dozen Cabinets before they have a chance to see just what they are getting!!!

This week $1.00 (one dollar) will pay for 4 as fine Cabinets as can be made on this earth! If, after you have received them, and see just what they are, you wish to increase your order to a dozen or more, we shall be most happy to receive your order at proportionately low prices, and allow the $1 already paid to apply on the dozen if you decide you want them (and you will when you see the work).

Our object in making sittings so cheaply is to introduce our work, which we believe is the best in the land.

You are not buying a "cat in a bag," as you see just what you are getting every time before paying out much of any money.

Our success all depends upon our making our work so fine that our patrons will order more than the four pictures. Hence, every effort will be made to produce the finest results.

"We give nothing away" with orders, using only legitimate, straight business methods.

We mean to win solely on the merits of our work.

The Ladies and Gentlemen of Chicago are invited to call and test the quality and finish of our work. All it will cost you is $1.00 (one dollar), for which you will recive 4 (four) as fine Cabinets as can be made on earth, with the privilege of a dozen at your own option.

CANOVA STUDIOS,

WEBER MUSIC HALL,

Cor. Wabash-av. and Jackson-st.

IF "WE" HAD THE POWER

"WE" would SPRINKLE ALL THE STREETS in Chicago at the expense of the TAXPAYERS every dusty day of the year, and believe "EVERY LADY" in Chicago and most of the men would never forget Willoughby, Hill & Co., THE CLOTHING MEN, and we pay 1-5,000 part of ALL THE TAXES collected in Chicago.

IF WE HAD THE POWER

We would PAVE every street in Chicago, and the TAXPAYERS should pay the bill—not the TAXPAYERS of TODAY, "perhaps," but THEIR CHILDREN and THEIR GRANDCHILDREN. We would have PURE WATER to DRINK WHILE WE LIVE, no matter if it cost $50,000,000, and our "SUCCESSORS" should pay the bill. CHICAGO can afford to owe $50,000,000, and if

Willoughby, Hill & Co. Had the "Power"

Chicago WOULD soon owe more than "she do's," and ("IF" "POWER") our power is not great, yet we have STRENGTH enough to offer Tomorrow:

Black and Dark Blue Diagonal Worsted Suits for Gentlemen at $15; also ten other styles of New Suits at $15 and twenty styles at $18. Take any Clothes from our store around among these

"NEW HOWLERS FOR TRADE"

That say they sell "Mouthfuls,"

Quotable,
Floatable,
Noticeable,
Likeable,
Can't-table,
Sweetable,
Mouthable,
Lamable,
Thinable,
Anyable,
Blowable.

Now, if any of these "HOWLERS" can show you that their goods are any BETTER for you to buy than ours don't you keep ours a minute, for we will hand you back your money cheerfully. Can those "Howlers" pay "better money" than the renowned WILLOUGHBY, HILL & CO.?

Can they pay quicker? No; they can't. No; they don't. The Sleepless Clothiers are "waiting" and watching, "Come." Trade where you are safe. The "Assessor" says Willoughby, Hill & Co. have "the" Clothes.

"Parisian Suit Co."
IMPORTERS,
MANUFACTURERS,
RETAILERS,

Where you will always find the largest line of Ladies' Dresses and Garments in the city.

We have recently bought a large lot of Braided Wraps and Cloth Sweepskirts at a great sacrifice, and are selling them THIS DAY.

We do not sell Cotton and Wool Dresses such as are advertised at $6.75, $7.98 and $8.50. The cheapest Suit we carry is $15. But we guarantee it is made of Strictly All-Wool Material, having fully three yards more cloth, and will wear longer than any two of the ship-factory-made goods ushered in, such as are sold by the dry-goods houses. Compare the style and finish of our Suits with those of other stores and you will be astonished.

Remember, we manufacture, selling direct to our customers at small profit, and we can undersell all other houses in our line—a fact which is becoming well known, as is proved by our steadily increasing trade.

We give PERFECT FIT, and all garments are warranted as represented.

By purchasing from us

YOU SAVE
From 10 to 30 Per Cent.

Be sure and call before you make a selection, and compare our prices on the same quality of goods with others.

Attention is called to our new GLOVE DEPARTMENT.

MR. CLEVELAND IN 1888.

NEW YORK TO CHICAGO FOR SUPPORT OF HIS RENOMINATION.

Talk in Washington for Seeking Out One Morning's Newspaper that the Truth and Was Not Done Upon the Occasion—No Use Made of Signed Entries Upon the Registers in the Two Cities—Other Political Gossip.

New York, May 31.—[Special.]—A special to the Post from Washington says:

The talk of removing from the South and from the rural voters Democratic county officers and the substitution of Republicans in their places, which was indulged in by the New York Democratic leaders upon the occasion of Mr. Cleveland's last visit to Washington, has created considerable apprehension among the Democratic officeholders in the South, and it is said that many of them are preparing to take the stump in favor of voting their states for Harrison and giving their votes a rest, if the campaign proceeds as now, for the purpose of keeping their places. The Democratic leaders here are considerably disturbed over the outlook in the South, and it is said that the private opinion of those who control it is not in favor of voting their states for Harrison and giving their votes a rest, if the campaign proceeds as now, for the purpose of keeping their places. The police court cases were called when they were called that the judge had agreed to remove the Saturday half holiday. The State, county and city officials were identical. The city appointments were issued with the exception of the Mayor's office. The Mayor was instructed to issue no more garden tickets, and also issued licenses to the dance halls, but they could not have more than one night. The Federal courts were closed, but the Judges' chambers were open, and motions were heard. The post-office regulations had to work as usual.

CHANGES IN THE CABINET.

Go Given Good for $20,000 Damages by the Western Ground-Nut Company.

New York, May 31.—[Special.]—Papers in another lawsuit, but this time for $20,000 damages, were served on the Secret in Troy yesterday by a private detective, who went for the Secret at its private office, No. 6 Cedar street. The record is the Western Ground-Nut Company, and its president, George C. Goodrich, and the detectives had been looking for the Secret for a week.

The Western Ground-Nut Company and the Secret have been friendly in their relations. The Secret is the company's Wall street agent, and has a salary of $10,000 a year and with the Western Ground-Nut Company the Wall Street Investment Company of New York, to which the Secret was heavily interested, had entered into a contract to supply it with its entire Ohio business, the Secret was to receive $10,000 a year for its services. The Secret did not expect to have the suit ready so speedily, as it is no longer Western agent for the company. The contract between the two companies existed in a time of $10,000 to $20,000. Differences in the company's affairs have arisen, and it was decided that it was better to let the private portion of those who opposed it out in favor of closing their doors of business and giving their stocks a rest, all the necessary agreement, as above, to the payment of back bills. Suits were brought in the name of the Secret, and the Western Ground-Nut Company, and the Secret was appointed receiver. The police court cases were called when they were called that the judge had agreed to remove the Saturday half holiday. The State, county and city officials were identical. The city appointments were issued with the exception of the Mayor's office. The Secret

The local money market tightened steadily last week under a strong demand from speculative and commercial sources, and rates Saturday were five at 6 to 8 per cent. Loan operations were limited. Sixty-day exchange sold at 4 cents discount. Sterling bills were steady at 487½@488. The New York stock market, which was open only six hours, was strong but dull.—The Chicago grain markets were dull, in the absence of substantial demand, but the longer futures in wheat were firmer on crop prospects. Provisions were more active and easier, because it is thought that the receipts of hogs the coming week will be large. As compared with Friday, corn closed 3 cents lower, lard and pork wheat unchanged, oats 3c, corn lower, July wheat 1¼ cent higher, corn ¼ cent lower, oats weak, rye easy, barley 1c cent lower, and flaxseed strong. The receipts of grain in this city last week were larger than the shipments by 21,000 bushels in wheat, and less by 19,000 bushels in corn. The packing of Chicago since the close of February to-date stood 60,000 hogs, against 97,000 for the same time last year, and 77,000 for the same time in 1869.

There were no new developments in the wheat deal yesterday. Rumors were out to the effect that the men for whom the recent buying has been done are divided in their councils, but nothing of the kind can be inferred from the trading to the pit. Apparently the price of wheat for March "popped" at 90 cents, the close broken buying at that to effect here or that force, and the larger futures are free under that means to be purchasing for others on fears that the deficit will make the crop of this year a short one to extent of years. It is evident that somebody is endeavoring to perfect arrangements for carrying through next month the wheat that is to come to this city, and it is fair to infer that the clique is at the bottom of the movement. But this is not certain. It may be that the speculators borrowing is done by men who wish to discriminate round the situation, or that the case has arisen, when the coming up of facts cannot be important change in the program. Meanwhile it becomes more and more probable that the result of the excitement in the market will be the holding over here of a considerable quantity of wheat to compete with the offerings from the new crop, as the latter report demand to bring Bluff or other points more cheaply than to seaside here. It is even thought probable that a continuance of present conditions with regard to price will move the stocks of wheat in Chicago to increase to nearly 21,000,000 bushels before the close of next month.

Patterson has issued a bull against "hypothecating" to the county, and notwithstanding the fact that the farm lands in the United States are being rapidly absorbed by a few rich men. There is no truth whatever in the allegation beyond what is being done by alien capitalists getting hold of large tracts not on the west plains for cattle-grazing and on occasional farm-land monopolies like the Scribner-Sealy, who will soon be encountered, in Illinois. The great mass of the large farms in the organized States are in the South, and these are mostly cultivated on shares by the ex-slaves. It is to that section of the Union that Fourberty gets its large figures of farm-tenants, and tried field hands, and big plantations of which he makes his parade. The States have not been sold, as a general thing, to big farms, alike have a plenty of land for sale cheap in the South. But the increase of 200 and 300 acre small subdivisions of land and increase in the number of farms in the Southern States. The successful class farmers to all appearance there as the "poor white trash" since the war abolished slavery have purchased hundreds of thousands of homesteads. The general tendency in the South is to split up and sell off the large plantations, as brings hands to work them most profitable. The following table, made up from the United States census reports, exhibits the rapid subdivision of land in all the Southern States into smaller tallies, which means more farms and fewer tenants working on other people's land:

	1860.	1870.	Inc.
Alabama	33	41	8
Arkansas	13	20	7
Florida	3	4	1
Georgia	37	47	10
Louisiana	22	25	3
Mississippi	30	36	6
North Carolina	27	36	9
South Carolina	19	26	7
Tennessee	31	41	10
Texas	15	20	5
Virginia	36	42	6

The number of farms assessed in each State about in the same proportion as the increase in their size. But whatever the size of the farms or the number of tenants, nothing is true—that for or none of Fourberty's city Knights of Labor could be induced to abandon city life and its allurements to live on farms and work there, even if they could get them for nothing. He has no direct personal, therefore, in the discussion of agricultural matters.

THE NATIONAL BANK BILL A LAW.

The Savings Bank bill to note a law. Gov. Oglesby neither signed nor vetoed it, but allowed it to become a statute by lapse of time. This was just as well practically, but by pursuing this course the Governor missed the opportunity to identify his name with what will probably be the best-known piece of legislation of his entire term. Other bills connect it to immediate importance without pertaining to be landmarks. What is more important than gold, but perishes with the using; an obscure reform, numerous in the administration of public affairs are the consequence of a healthy public life, but soon lose their individuality, or cohere a their identification with the passing matters.

The Savings Bank act goes into effect July 1, or, in the mean space, becomes available at that date. It is to be fundamental character as regulating act. It does not of itself accomplish anything. It does, it is true, provide for a rigid State supervision of savings institutions, but the supervision applies only to associations organized under the new law, and not at all to those now in existence by virtue of special charters. At the time we might think this an oversight, but considering the insignificance of the savings business now being done under these charters it is just as well, especially as under a recent Supreme Court decision their number is bound to be reduced still further. It is hardly too much to say that the financial world of Illinois, in view of the decision referred to, is that the National banks and private bankers will continue to do the business of savings deposits for savings banking.

It will take some time to carry the policy to its natural conclusion, and it will never be fully carried out, nor is it desirable that it should be. No one, direct or indirect, should be made open the State commercial banks, nor open the privileged savings banks. There is no danger of the former becoming banks of save, and the latter are confined to at the maximum four per. It is now the case that the inevitable drift of financial affairs in Illinois is as indicated, and that the new features put evidence to be a lasting, permanent and distinctly recognized, to the history of the State, and that, too, from the standpoint of the friends and enemies of the Savings Bank bill. Under the old State-system system the savings deposits of Illinois were too light to be an appreciable factor to either the money market or the property of the industrial class—free, which class mostly all savings deposits come; but since Illinois to enter the ranks of the United States deposits will be greatly increased under the latter system, not immediately, but surely, and will soon become as large as to exert a powerful influence upon financial matters.

The latest available statistics place the total savings deposits of the country at about $1,000,000,000, of which fifty per cent is held by mutual associations, all of which are substantially the same as those provided for by this new law. There are two species of this genus, the New York association being in their most potent self-perpetuating, while the Massachusetts system provides for the annual election of trustees by the depositors. The Illinois law is modeled after the New York system, which has proved under the more satisfactory of the two, although the practical difference is not great. The number of trustees must be at least thirteen, and that is about as large a board as it is practicable to have for the management of any corporation.

The one objection urged to the measure was the fact that as trustees could either draw dividends under it or borrow from the funds. Where, it was urged, would the inducement come in? It is to be expected that business-like men, anxious not for a fault interest bearing any interest in the profits? To these and similar inquiries it might be enough to reply: Are Illinois business-men uncommonly mean and lacking in public spirit? That is not their reputation. The common impression hereto is the law as "not for pecuniary profit" what the multitude of our leading citizens to do their part in that line, and as intelligent men will grasp the advantage to the industrial class of having savings associations in which they have confidence and the profits of which shall go to the depositors. It would be a positive disgrace to Chicago if the new law should not be put to practice, and that, too, by men of the highest standing in the community. Throughout the State that class of citizens and no others should put the system in operation.

THE OLD SETTLER.

The rapid crossing out of the old settlers of the city, reported annually at the Old-Settlers' Gathering, has become somewhat that with many more years will elapse before they are all gone. A few of those who were here are still hale and vigorous, but the great majority are so far advanced in the "sere and yellow leaf" that it is only a question of a little time when the place that now knows them will know them no more forever. This suggests that if the organization is to be kept up it will soon be necessary to bring the meeting into a little room to suit very few. It now stands at the year 1840, which is forty-five years ago. It is difficult to see any good reason for doing so that as the epoch which would not equally well suit to several other years back. The most important date in the history of the city after the organization of the Municipal Government was in the spring of 1833, when Chicago was connected with the East by rail. The Michigan Central and the Michigan Southern completed their lines then—the one in February and the other in May. The Illinois Central followed the next year. These trunk-lines established the railroad era of the city, and they form the dividing line between the merely rural phase and the active commercial growth which has ever since been a marked feature of the place near the head of Lake Michigan. All persons who came here previous to that time are distinctively entitled to be called old settlers, whether recognized by the Calumet Club or not. Those who arrived later have no special distinction, as they were attracted by the fact of already an accomplished result, and not by the mere promise of it, which was of a very vague and uncertain kind during the three years that followed the panic of 1837. It is true there was a gradual lifting of the cloud, which was to end in have begun with the commencement of work on the Illinois & Michigan Canal, completed on a small scale in 1836, but forty years ago there was no real recognition of the part which the city would subsequently take as the focus of the great West. It was a gamble rather than a market, its character behind the municipal motto, "Urbs in Horto."

A score of years have sunken and still more remarkable epoch will form the natural dividing line between the old and the new Chicago. The date is the great fire of 1871. That was an event which revolutionized the city in more senses than one. It eliminated most of the merely speculative, brought in fresh capital and enterprise, and completely altered the character of the population as a whole not less than in the bulk of the structures which the people live and do business. It is probable that the attempt now to form a society that should include the majority of those who were here previous to the fire would be a failure, but such a step will be taken before long, and when the time arrives the feature of natural selection of membership on that basis will be recognized as very much more appropriate than the artificial one which now draws off from other organizations the "old settlers," to distinguish them from those unfortunates who did not find their way here till a few days or years later.

A PERSONAL LIBERTY ASSOCIATION.

Mayor Harris of New York has made a sensible proposition with regard to one phase of the labor troubles, by which to suggest a plan for bringing labor that ought to be organized not only in New York, but in all other large cities and hence create causes of anxiety, into existence that power so entirely and arbitrarily. The suggestion of Mayor Harris was made in reply to a letter of condolence addressed to him by a platform who was imprisoned by the tyranny of the Protestant Union from working and earning a living. We are not aware whether the prisoner was a voter or non-voter, does, but the principle contained in the Mayor's suggestion is the same in either case.

In reply to the platform the Mayor says that a personal liberty association should be formed in New York to defend the rights of honest workingmen to make a living and provide for their families when their rights are refused them by Engine of Labor associations and trades unions through the action of agitators, ruining bloggers, or striking mobs. The Mayor not only makes the proposition, but shows that he is in earnest by offering to subscribe to such a movement as an active private and personally active. An organization of the kind is needed in Chicago. Among the striking tobacconists and bricklayers there is a multitude of men who want to work and would work if they could be protected. There is no tyranny or exacting on that which is practiced on them by the managers and unfeeling delegates of the unions to which they belong. A little time does by seven-tenths and 6 dozen, and some men from striking for hours of labour. The Knights of Labor when they first organized themselves were undoubtedly actuated by just and reasonable principles, but little by little they have wrested their rights to a secret clique of unscrupulous managers. They are bound to strike without cause to many cases, to stop work when they want to work, to oppose the interests of their organizations when they have none of their own, and to go into unlawful alliances to suit the whims and caprices of "protectors" who never toil themselves.

A personal liberty organization of the kind proposed by Mayor Harris would be a boon not only to employers but to workingmen also. There is no larger question of human liberty and law and of personal rights than that every man who wants to work for wages has the right to work on any terms he may make with his employer, and that no one shall interfere with him. Equally he has the right to refuse to work, and the employer cannot force him. Such a personal liberty association would be patronized by thousands of workingmen who want to make a living and are not deprived of their rights by the peaceable and lawful assertion of the rights of those over them. It would reduce individual rights, which are now trampled under foot, to their proper level, and it would give storekeepers an entire the right to work out to be free men. It would restore the principles of justice and equity to the treatment of the labor question. If Brady went and property compel it would be a useful check upon the efforts of the existing labor organizations, which, like the Socialistic organizations, have well nigh trampled out the last vestige of personal liberty.

TEN MILLION DEBTS OF ONE.

The New York Independent has devoted its customary preliminary review of the churches, the figures being gathered from official sources wherever it was possible. It finds that there are 37,711 Adventists, 6,737,07 Baptists, 136,000 Christian Travelers, 40,000 Congregationalists, 50,000 Friends, 150,000 German Evangelicals, 60,000 Lutherans, 10,000 Moravians, 4,000,000 Methodists, 11,000 Mormons, 1,000,000 Presbyterians, 40,000 Spiritualists, 80,000 Unitarians and Free Reformers, 4,000,000 Roman Catholics, 35,000 Universalists, 1,000 Swedenborgians, and 35,000 Unitarians, besides Christadelphians, Plymouth Brethren, and some small independent congregations. According to unity it classifies the churches as follows:

	No.	Min.	Value.
Episcopal	4,145	1,788	$ 100,000
Roman Catholic	4,127	1,000	4,000,000
Unitarian	190	100	1,000,000
Quakers	100	100	50,000
Total	10,000	4,000	$ 5,000,000
Congregational	2,000	1,000	$ 1,000,000
Baptists	10,000	10,000	10,000,000
Christian	1,000	1,000	1,000,000
Congregationalists	1,000	1,000	1,000,000
Evangelical	1,000	1,000	1,000,000
Friends	100	100	100,000
Lutheran	1,000	1,000	1,000,000
Methodist	10,000	10,000	10,000,000
Presbyterian	1,000	1,000	1,000,000
Reformed	1,000	1,000	1,000,000
Unitarian	1,000	1,000	1,000,000
Universalist	1,000	1,000	1,000,000
Total Protestant	41,000	41,000	$ 100,000,000

The totals for these bodies are over 100,000 churches, 41,000 ministers, and 10,000,000 members, showing a gain in the last four years of 11,000 churches, 5,000 ministers, and 1,000,000 communicants. In present numbers the Methodists are first, Roman Catholics second, Baptists third, Presbyterians fourth, Lutherans fifth, Congregationalists sixth, and Episcopalians seventh.

The Independent naively enough suggests to readers upon this showing that one million out of the sixty millions of population in this country are professing worshipers of Christian churches, and that they have increased their membership one per cent faster by death and discipline by 1,000,000. So far as numbers go it is a good organization showing, but the test must be made not by numbers, but by the condition of society. Christianity in this land, nominally, is a gratifying fact that the church is not falling off but increasing faster, and to that extent is not behind behind in its contact with the evil powers. It is apparent, however, that not does not decrease proportionately with the church's increase, which may be accounted for by the fact that the membership of evil is in such inhabitants and communities, and that there are many members of the church who are non-communicants. If these statistics, millions of members were united and all going together, instead of pulling apart, as they do in many cases, they would be a mighty power in shaping, arresting, and improving the times they are now. The signs of the times are not as much the increase in numbers, for professions does not always indicate piety, as the dominance of theology and duties, which is apparent everywhere. The report of the committee to the General Presbyterian Assembly, now in session at Omaha, that there is not sufficient enthusiasm among preachers and laymen to start a movement to Christ, is more significant of the future destiny of church powers than the mere increase in numbers reported by the Independent.

THE FUTURE OF AFRICA.

The fine story never palatable from the New York Sun, which printed a correspondent on its editorial staff, with means and facilities given, and witnesses to verify the statements, in a narrative of the extraordinary method and marvelous power of a dog in Brooklyn, N. Y., at a time of dangerous emergency. The dog forces, as the story runs, was at house of a large fur-dressing establishment of that city, which was destroyed by fire Wednesday night last. One of the employés, Jacobs and Smith, were sleeping on the upper floor at the time. The watchman, the dog discovered the fire he rushed upstairs to their room and tried to awaken them by barking. By succeeding in this he pulled the coverings off from Jacobs' bed and finally succeeded in arousing him. He started for the lower floor in a frantic condition, the dog following him, but the street door was locked, and the men could not find the key. The dog was equal to the emergency, however, and by his prolonged barking attracted the attention of the crowd, who broke open the door and rescued the men. The faithful dog's every step was accomplished job. He experienced trouble, and nothing appeared through the smoke, found his every endeavored and unable to help himself. Never lost on fire, his, saving him by the direction, dragged the dog-apart and out into the street in time to save his life. Both the men were rescued by hundreds of people.

The extraordinary performance of this faithful and courageous animal will serve to suggest speculations which lead a long way from the exertions of the animal mentioned. As we generally understand it, it is without so much instinct to usually considered. If the situation had been a reversed, if it had involved a matter of food, shelter, or warmth, or anything pertaining to the natural dog life, it might have been called instinct. But a situation outside the natural sphere of the dog. It required the exercise of reason, reflection, memory and prompt and decisive action. Instinct would have impelled the dog to rush out of the burning building toward. He reasoned as a man would have reasoned, and he acted upon his decision with the same promptness and decision. Instinct would have done that, what is to be future of the dog who has displayed so much intelligence and powers of reason and reflection? If this dog with his reason is denied to perish, why not man with his reason also? Due to the question of future of a world of human intelligence is no satisfied any other way? Does annihilation await them also? Does the Great God, who will admit the possibility of an animal having, but most intellectual nothing more to the intellectual development of Christianity? From an artistic point of view, however, the future of the planet is to be regretted. The subject would be an excellent one for a great artist. Sketch and lesson could both be used with good effect. A glowing representation of Saturday prowling at the ends; then in the morning stock, of all others, against the in the centennial, would furnish an appropriate background for a statue of Cairo, Illinois, to stand. Perhaps the Tribune, who set sure, we believe, holding a National convention in Chicago, to be on hand for the fourth, giving the occasion the proper setting. Such a speaking of the two representatives of the capital would be a practical illustration of the rational spirit of the age.

Thomas Hart says that if Cleveland is nominated again he will be in the power to elect him. It is not altogether improbable that the consumption of champagne in this country is 100 for private and refreshing purposes, and to the dark squalling over results in the latter of polities.

Chicago wants school principals during the proposition to consolidate sections of land for the purpose of the School Board in such a convenient, economic and business-like way as to make not a very good one to this city. It will not come to pass this year, but the movement should be inaugurated. Therefore that if there is going to be a change in the management of the school system, the time for the change is now, when the people are not excited by the issues of politics.

The Chicago Journal of Commerce thinks there is a great many "strings" coming into Chicago, a-coming.

Chicago, May 6.—[Editor of The Tribune.] I agree very much in the last issue of your paper with a correspondent of the Interior, saying that the Democratic party is going to be the party of reform, and that the Democratic party is going to be the party of reform, and that the Democratic party is going to be the party of reform, and

CHICAGO REAL ESTATE.

THE PROPERTY FOR AN ELEVATED RAILROAD TO STATE STREET.

Quiet Transaction Which Indicate the Movement of a Syndicate—The Interest for Certain Kinds of South Side Property—A Number of Recent Transfers of Importance to Different Localities—Effect of the Lockout on the Building Interest.

With the exception of a few stray sales of a little more than average importance the main interest of the real-estate market continued to centre in State street property, which even at this stage of the proceedings is a decidedly uncertain quantity south of Taylor street. That the purchases between that street and Fifteenth street have been made primarily in the interest of the Alleens, Tuttle & Davis Elevated Railway no one has yet taken the trouble to deny, and that fact is the one to principally interested. But a significant feature of the situation is the rather fresh position occupied by those who have so long vehemently denied the existence of any purpose of carrying State street with an elevated road. The assertion is openly made that an elevated road on State street is an upward fact. The residents on the south end of the street are fast placing their signatures to the petition for consent of legal tenure, and nearly enough property on the upper end is now owned by the owners of the Tuttle syndicate to insure a majority of the frontage in each side of the street which is to be petitioned to-morrow. The paying of cash bills in this by the syndicate, almost precludes the secured by small amount of dissatisfaction that may naturally have been, and the prospect now is that the road will go ahead with a celerity that may astonish the residents. The real-estate dealers are all interested for that or a term, as no doubt in getting their names to agreements. Just at writing moment it is discovered that a large package boots freight facilities have not that it is willing to pay a fair price for necessary land. It is estimated that as soon as these leases have been secured the syndicate will begin work in earnest. Some of the property brought out will make elevated roads to the south very valuable, and it is understood that matters may be amicably arranged so as to avoid that for railroad shall pay a certain proportion of the rental, all owners agree on the part of owners to be fair to the elevated syndicate, the cheapest thing that the syndicate shall be entitled to right of way in front of all such property. The real estate on the street being thus taxed now to a railroad for freight over purposes, the interest of the syndicate in the matter will be much less. The demand for it will be considered necessary for merchants' purposes, and it is not likely that a claim that an elevated road would prove a permanent injury to a warehouse would long be seriously urged. In fact, with the other property now known to be in friendly hands the statement that an elevated road on State street is to avoid is said easily to have to secure as to stop a few weeks ago, when such statement clung that such a scheme was contemplated for the lower four streets mentioned quarter.

It is not believed that the road, the building (the a majority north of Twenty-second street) is to remain in a permanent form, but as a necessity of the freight business of the country, instead of one-half, is surely going to stay through the Legislature.

During the week it was made a matter of record that Mr. French had become possessed for the syndicate of the 50-foot lot on the northeast corner of Taylor street and Third avenue, with other property adjoining to the S. W. Burns, the lot there is valued at $40,000. Previously, also, the syndicate had secured control of the Taylor street, and especially on Third avenue, so that frequently the pioneers are assembled on one. But that the completion of the arrangements will soon be made public is widely credited.

Edward Harrington sold the southeast corner of the east side of Cleveland avenue, between Forty-second and Forty-third streets, with two cottages and good barn, after occupied by E. S. Taylor for $10,000. The sale of the transaction was not agreed, but the actual purchaser is the trustee for Mr. Calkins to the open at that agent when they were conveyed to him to Mr. Taylor. The block is quite attractive, and the houses are not old.

"While trading has not been very active," said a business agent yesterday, "there has been a good inquiry and I believe that we have got the worst behind us. Values will not decline still further, because will be better with us than previously this year. I have had many chances to buy a piece of investment property which for the next three years could have been bought for half what I have to give for it to-day. I do not believe that the real estate market is materially, but I am satisfied that it is on a healthier basis than it has been for some time. Capital will be employed in the near future, and the best and best-situated business and residence properties in the city will be the first to receive attention. You will find that the men who invest largely now in Chicago real estate will be the greatest gainers in the end. Those who have money to invest in good property now, and who will hold it for a few years, will be pleased with the result. Chicago is bound to grow, and the greater part of its real estate will increase in value. The property which is cheapest on the basis of the last assessment having which is the best situated, together with a large part of the ground. The old building which is worth so little to-day will be worth a good deal more in a few years, but the rest of the lot on the corner is occupied by another that structure."

OTHER SALES OF NOTE.

The papers have passed to the transfer of the southeast of the lot, three feet, of the northeast corner of Michigan avenue and Eighteenth street, to William E. Boone, for the sum of $30,000, which is practically equivalent to a per foot. The property is improved on a by a three-story brick building, which is on the ground, and the lease runs to it for a term of years, at a rental of $3,000 per annum. The property is considered a good investment at the price paid, and the lease runs to it for a term of years, at a rental of $3,000 per annum. The property is considered a good investment at the price paid, and the lease runs to it for a term of years, at a rental of $3,000 per annum.

The Chicago Central Road purchased from W. C. Wilson and J. C. Lee two properties on Clark and Polk streets, with a frontage of 100 feet on Clark street and 100 feet on Polk street, for the consideration of $30,000. The property is improved with a two-story brick building, which is occupied by the Chicago Central Road as a freight depot. The property is considered a good investment at the price paid, and the lease runs to it for a term of years, at a rental of $3,000 per annum.

The following is the total amount of real estate sales within a radius of seven miles of the Court House that for record during the week ending Saturday, May 11:

	Sales	Amount
North of city limits	67	$1,407,700
South of city limits	78	1,000,000
West of city limits	71	1,000,000
Total	216	$3,407,700
Same last week	67	$1,000,000
Same week last year	63	1,000,000

THE CREDIT SYSTEM.

Each disposition is building efforts as previous last week have been made previously experienced in Chicago. Notwithstanding the fact that the total sales for the week were less than $3,000,000, the number of deeds recorded was unusually large, and the aggregate of small transactions was considerable. It is quite safe to say that the real estate business of the week was fully as large as that of any previous week this year. The fact that the number of sales was so large indicates that the business is not confined to a few large operations, but that a good deal of attention is being given to the small transactions which are necessary to a healthy condition of the market. "Gold to feed"—Time and How Some—The Sort of Soil Necessary—A Perennial—How Long to Irrigate Them—Succession Yields—Three Crops a Year—Cutting, Curing, Stacking, and Selling—No Fear of an Overstocked Market—How to Make Money.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 11.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—"Wyo. it's gold to feed," was the enthusiastic but correct answer one exclamation of a farmer from the vicinity of Cheyenne, Wyo., after having heard the testimony of five or six Colorado agriculturists in regard to the properties of the great food plant, alfalfa.

In previous letters I promised to tell your readers something about this remarkable article which, as the term farmer said, is "gold to feed;" for there is as I believe remarked in speaking of it as a hay fodder for cattle, none value is one acre of which in Colorado than in five acres of corn in the most fertile land of that most favored State, Iowa.

The seed, a little larger than that of red clover, is sown here about the middle of April or two weeks later. It may be put in with a grain drill also in corn-rows of an inch, with the rows at drill-rows). Each setting is watched by many experienced farmers, as they have found that the growth tends to cause stalks. Twenty pounds of seed to the acre is the accepted standard, but some use more, five pounds more. As to the nature of the soil, it does not thrive in one of a compact clay character, nor in a shallow soil over a clay bottom. A sandy loam, the richer the better, and then, with an abundance of water, in the ground required. It is claimed there is scarcely a State or Territory in the Union where it will not grow and thrive. It further possesses the virtue of increasing in and stock in quantities of materials under the influence of irrigation. The first year after seeding, the plant grows very slowly, the second year after seeding, the first of the plant thing a and stock portable here, together with its positive enabling model formation. It will prove to a height of from two to three feet, and should be cut when in full bloom, which will generally occur about the middle of June, and then every month to a height of from twenty to thirty inches throughout the subsequent season.

It is a perennial, and should be cultivated and cared for like clover. The leaves, however, are not the cause, with its stem, compact head, but are produced a long distance of a root-stalk-like. These leaves are the object of cultivation, for they make the finest of fodder. The plant is cut when in full bloom, which will generally occur about the middle of June, and then every month to a height of from twenty to thirty inches throughout the subsequent season.

One Hundred and Fifty Persons Killed in Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, May 11.—Reports from local officials in the regions of North Mexico recently visited by earthquake shocks reached here today. The Chief of the local guard at Salinas says: "The earthquake was so strong here that a few men have a slight tremble house-trembling. Sixty persons were killed and many wounded beyond hope of recovery. Between 1 p. m. and 1 a. m. of the following there were eighteen shocks. We are still digging out bodies and have the number of killed will reach 150."

The governor of the State of Nuevo Leon, in which Monterey is situated, says: "The ground was shaken for about forty hours. Fifty persons were killed and many wounded. Many houses were destroyed and others damaged. The shocks were accompanied by subterranean noises and were very severe. The inhabitants are panic-stricken and many have left the city. Business is entirely suspended. The loss will be heavy. The shocks were also severely felt in the States of Coahuila and Zacatecas."

The Governor of the State of Durango reports that the shocks were severely felt in the capital and in the towns of Mapimi, Tlahualilo, Nazas, and Cuencame. Many houses were destroyed and many persons killed. The shocks were also severely felt in the States of Coahuila and Zacatecas.

WANTED—A SEAL.

Confusion in the Post-Office Department Because Stamps Are Gone.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 11.—The Chief Postmaster has been without an authorized seal for a long time, and much confusion has been the result in the management of that bureau. A Superintendent is to fill the vacancy is expected at an early day, as the President is being constantly appealed to to make the appointment. There are four names mentioned for the place—namely: Gen. Daily Smith, Gen. Stevenson, Prof. Kinnicutt, and Gen. Alfred Plummer. Gen. Stevenson is very anxious to get the place, because he believes it would enable him to have the money he expended on election campaigns refunded to him, and because he is tired of the monotonous duties of his present position as engineer or messenger of the Treasury Department. Prof. Kinnicutt, Director of the Weather Bureau, is a scientist, and would like the position also, while Gen. Smith and Gen. Plummer are old friends of the President. Gen. Plummer has also been prominently mentioned for the position of Governor of Alaska, but it is said that he has declined the appointment.

THE PRESBYTERIANS.

Gathering of the General Assembly to Receive a Welcome.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 11.—At the third day of the Presbyterian Assembly the Committee on Bequests and Overtures reported a number of the latter, relating to the amendment of the constitution, abolition of Freedmen Mission Boards, abolition of the Committee on Temperance, and a number of other subjects, all of which were appropriately referred. The recommendations of the committee as to the reorganization of the Board of Publication was adopted unanimously. Under the new plan Rev. Francis A. Wilson, D. D., will succeed Superintendent of Sabbath-school Missionary work, the Rev. J. G. Briggs, D. D., Editorial and Publishing Superintendent, and John A. Black, Business Superintendent. The Committee on Business Report reported that during the past year $18,000 had been received from the Board of Publication, and $10,000 from the Board of Education, and recommended a continuance of the Board of Education, and recommended a continuance of the Board of Education.

SAVED BY A DOG.

The Latest Rules and Where We Get Them.

There will be more sensible shows on our boulevards this season as the rest of the carriages and harness that has ever been seen in Chicago, for in no other department of fashion has there been such rapid advancement made as in the growing taste and culture of our citizens regarding the elegance and style of their carriages and harness.

A visit to the old reliable house of C. F. Kimball & Co., who had the fashion to carriages and harness, increases surprisingly that Chicago no longer needs second to New York for style in its "turn-outs." Messrs. C. F. Kimball & Co. have facilities for showing and manufacturing vehicles and harness required to meet every demand, and their warerooms, at Wabash avenue and Jackson street, are filled with the latest and most elegant styles of carriages of all kinds as imported in the United States. They show a number of novelty and patterns in Victoria, which for driving carriage in the afternoon during the present season, and a fine variety and patterns of open carriages for promenading purposes, to make their promenades during the approaching season of carriages and drives by any single house in the world.

A Complete Clothing Establishment.

A patent on a sewing machine attachment was issued last year to S. Lincoln of Lincoln Park, which does away with a complete sewing. The device is called the Needle Plater, and may be attached to any sewing machine. It works equally well on all kinds of cotton and cotton cloth, making an even, perfect stitch of any size desired. Loading plate manufactured and sold by the Needle Plater Company, 1 to 5 Wall st. It is said to increase and simplify the work of sewing machines. Other inventions of the same company are: Fred Kimball, Director of the Mint, relative to a process, and Hyde Park, Chicago, and

"BELLE OF BOURBON," THE "WATER OF LIFE," AND THE GREAT APPETIZER.

HIGHLY INDORSED AND RECOMMENDED.

This will certify that I have examined the Belle of Bourbon Whisky, received from Lawrence, Ostrom & Co., and found the same to be perfectly free from Fusel Oil and all other deleterious substances, and strictly pure. I cheerfully recommend the same for Family and Medicinal purposes. J. P. BARNUM, M. D., Analytical Chemist, Louisville, Ky.

WHY BELLE OF BOURBON IS PURE.

There are volatile properties naturally existing in the grain, which accompany the liquor in its changes and give their characteristic flavor to the resultant spirit. These can scarcely be considered as impurities, but there are other properties obtained during the process of fermentation which serve seriously to contaminate the product. Among these are FUSEL OIL, or GRAIN OIL, amylic alcohol, which is offensive both to the smell and taste, and from which, aside from the poison they contain, it is very desirable that the spirit should be freed as far as possible. This is accomplished in the manufacture of BELLE OF BOURBON, in the production of which only the flinty part of the grain is used, THUS FREEING IT FROM FUSEL OIL BEFORE IT IS DISTILLED, and it is further improved by the

RIPE AGE OF BELLE OF BOURBON,

To which it is allowed to attain before being placed upon the market, none of this whisky being placed upon the market until it is at least TEN YEARS OLD. In substantiation of this the certificate of the eminent chemist, Dr. J. P. Barnum, is here given.

EMINENT PHYSICIANS

Throughout the world unhesitatingly contend that alcoholic liquors have held, and always will hold, their place at the head of the list of STANDARD REMEDIES, without the use of which success in their practice would be limited.

WHAT THE DOCTORS HAVE TO SAY.

The late Dr. Gowling, who was considered the highest authority in his time, and who was fully aware of the purity of BELLE OF BOURBON, wrote in the "Medical News," of which he was editor, in the discussion of the so-called temperance question: "Alcohol will always be administered to the sick. Its ABUSE and not its USE may be abandoned."

HE RECOMMENDS BELLE OF BOURBON.

"The sick are going to have alcohol in some shape, and a matter of the first importance is that the liquors administered to them be ABSOLUTELY PURE.

"GENUINE AND GOOD."

"The physicians," he says, "order good whisky," meaning BELLE OF BOURBON, of course, "and leave it to alimentists to find it as they may. Some possess the faculty or the knowledge necessary to get genuine liquors, but the vast majority, even among the intelligent, do not."

BELLE OF BOURBON

Whisky was introduced into the Pharmacopia as a substitute for brandy, and is preferable to brandy as a medical agent, since it can always be obtained of good quality. It is also used as an antiseptic, dressing for wounds, etc.

BELLE OF BOURBON IN FEVERS.

The use of BELLE OF BOURBON Whisky has revolutionized the treatment of fevers, and thousands of lives have been saved. Formerly Typhoid Fever was regarded as almost incurable—recovery was the exception, death the rule. Now, owing to the use of whisky, death resulting from Typhoid Fever is the exception, recovery the rule. So it is in Surgical Fevers, which are now readily controlled by stimulants. Dr. Lewis Sayre, eminent orthopedic surgeon, regards pure Kentucky Whisky as the BEST OF ALL MEDICAL AGENTS in controlling and regulating the pulse in fevers resulting from injuries or surgical operations.

A CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

The venerable Dr. McCready, the distinguished American lecturer, sometimes called the father of American therapeutics, used to give equal parts of sweet milk and whisky as a prescription for Consumption, as the most efficient and ONLY satisfactory remedy for that disease, even after cavities had been formed in the lungs, and his treatment was most successful, resulting in many almost miraculous cures.

M. BOUVIER IS TO TRY IT.

A MAN FOUND WHO IS WILLING TO TAKE A FOREIGN MINISTRY.

The Boulanger Affair Certain to Be Injected on the Matter—How the Cabinet Crisis Is Regarded in Berlin—The Prospect as to a General of Rectifiers—Serious Fears and Gossip—Rather Gallant Spanish Note.

PARIS, May 21.—M. Rouvier has consented to form a Ministry. He hopes to induce the leading members of the Budget Committee of the Chamber of Deputies to accept positions in the new Cabinet.

President Grévy advised Rouvier to seek to do the Budget Committee for materials for a new Ministry. Rouvier promised to fully consider.

Maurice Rouvier is a lawyer by profession, and was born at the age of 40 years. Having won prominence at Marseilles he entered the Senate in the Imperialist army after the fall of the Empire. He was made Minister of Finance in the Ministry of Dufaure, and subsequently came to be regarded as the leader of the Left Centre party in the Senate. He has frequently been at variance with the Extreme Left. He has opposed a number of the measures the latter party has favored, and is very generally regarded as a friend of peace and a firm supporter of the Republic. He has been a member of the Budget Committee of the Chamber for a number of years, and has been Minister of Finance in the Ministry now retiring from office. He was one of the Deputies who in the Schnaebelé case refused to vote the credits for the Ministry that ordered the arrest of Schnaebelé, and he was one of those who refused to vote the credits for the Ministry that ordered the prosecution of Count Dillon.

The immediate cause of Lemaire Ministry, Boulanger, La Fay and other minor lights gathered President Grévy to urge him, Boulanger to the Cabinet.

The Radical Press attacks M. Rouvier, whose attitude the most decisive politicians regard as favorable to Boulanger. It is said that M. de Freycinet will consider his declining to form a Ministry.

BERLIN, May 21.—The German papers consider the present Cabinet crisis in France as closely connected with the Boulanger question. The St. Petersburg Journal declares that the success of the settlement of the present trouble will show whether or not France desires to escape from her isolation, her position and to increase her importance in the councils of the world.

Boulanger in the Way.

LONDON, May 21.—[New York Times Cable.]—The contest of M. le Grey Boulanger stops the way. For nearly a year France has been accustoming itself to the idea that some day this would happen, and yet now that it has come, and practically the whole Continental combination for peace or for war hangs on the Boulanger's personality, Europe finds itself still curiously in doubt as to the nature and value of this personality. It merely throws light on the question to say what is undoubtedly true, that precisely in proportion as French politicians are pure, severe, and true they are against the Boulanger. Some of them regard him as relatively a strong man, but they have confidence in his motives. The larger opinion has him to be an impudent impostor, whose real motives and actions positively are usually dangerous. But they are all against him. It is safe to say that the combination in the Chamber which threw M. Goblet out was, in part, aimed at him. Boulanger, not having achieved the two-half of his purpose this combination hits and hesitates to complete its work. M. de Freycinet might, by all ordinary political laws, to have taken the responsibility of completion by forming a Ministry without him. Boulanger, Henri Rochefort's organization for attacking had been regarded as simply a question of M. de Freycinet without him. Boulanger or M. Clémenceau with him. Boulanger the man of sagacity France put the other, was nervous about crossing the path. Recent action could be noted of a majority in the Chamber when the powerful Boulanger minority would be liable at any time to be beaten for one or the other by uniting all interests in opposition to the Ministry. Boulanger, Clémenceau, Rochefort, Lockroy, Laisant, Naquet, Granet, Laguerre. While the state of suspense lasts nothing can be foreseen, but Dublin to Constantinople will be regarded as action. The more, for the first time since September, the London papers have appeared for the moment to have almost telegrams from Belgrade, which divide the chief the cause of interest has shifted to Paris.

THE WAR IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Feeling Engendered by the Indignation of the Matabeles.

PARIS, May 21.—[New York Times Cable.]—The news to which the French people have been subjected in keeping calm during the crisis of the last few months in beginning to tell on their sensitive nerves. The resignation of the Ministry was taken very coolly at first, but signs of suppressed excitement are beginning to appear. It is all the time that Paris is France, and the Parisian not getting up steam to start as for the Boulanger on the one hand. The same feeling shows itself in the previous which are causing a somewhat greater than the Boulanger to keep at bay. The moment when every citizen in the Paper wants a service from the impending assault of Germany and that the Boulanger is the man. Turning from the contest to the start of Boulanger now to those whose interest centers about the Bourse, the Boulanger cannot mount among the citizens of Europe and he is a safe card upon which to stake money. The Bourse, therefore, is quiet, and the Ministerial crisis is considered by the financial world as a purely political affair. Even the Boulanger is not considered as a serious danger to the Bourse. The Bourse is not afraid of Boulanger, but of the Chamber of Deputies. The Bourse is not afraid of Boulanger, but of the Chamber of Deputies. The Bourse is not afraid of Boulanger, but of the Chamber of Deputies.

THE LEGACY QUESTION.

Feeling Over the French Cabinet Crisis—Boulanger's Notoriety.

PARIS, May 21.—[Copyright, 1887, by the New York Associated Press.]—Feeling the news of the Cabinet crisis in Paris affects has variable a circumspect silence. The [illegible] feeling over the crisis [illegible] the utmost indifference to the Ministerial question. The [illegible] appears to be a question of the Budget Committee of the Chamber of Deputies, which wishes to deal with the Budget [illegible]. In the opinion of a number of the leading journalists of Paris and in the majority outside this great city the business of forming a Ministry will be attended by no difficulty, and will not [illegible] the Budget Committee of the Chamber. So far as the Boulanger cry is the leading one which is now [illegible] in Paris, and the Parisian has to be [illegible] by [illegible] and [illegible] under the pressure of [illegible] [illegible].

GETTING THE FINAL FOUR.

THESE ARE THE MEN WAITED ON FOR GREAT DOUBLE CASE.

The Conclusions of Candidates for Supreme Judicial and Appellate to be Formally Announced—Selection Not to be Published Until the Week—Some Will Be Completed Early This Week—Some Won't Please Every After a Year Out of Trouble.

Notwithstanding it was Saturday the entire day was devoted to the work of attending the jury on the books now before Judge Gregory. It was evidently made to the understanding, and all concerned got a taste of what is in store for the next month or so. The business could be but very partially done on the case on the court involved the views of the attorneys and jurors. So the attention progressed the evening of the issues involved, and in addition to the ex-tensive examination to one court the decisions took up so thoroughly the numerous items to a prospect of its being completed. The chief topic talked by the counsel of Wm. Bross Lloyd yesterday, and the struggle is now on the final test. The case of Miss Gilchrist's estate trouble was heard to any yesterday but no one could say that either side had a use in the jury, and to also manifest that he had ever heard such warring expressions of views. The verdict will be rendered Monday morning. It is entirely probable that the attention of the jury will be completed early the week, and it is reasonable to assume that the cases from counties will fill the rest to the hands of the jury.

The first half hour of the morning was taken up in hearing a motion to dismiss the appeal in the special master's report, the case of Mrs. Mary Ann Lloyd Bross. There was a little discussion over the question of filing the bond required by law. The court ruled that the bond should be filed by the 30th inst. Mr. Bross, counsel for Lloyd, was instructed to get out the bond in favor of Lloyd, although he knew that the heirs of Lloyd had been appointed to the guardianship of the estate of Lloyd. Although he had never acted as Judge, Lieutenant Colonel, Major, Lieutenant Colonel, or in any of the other subordinate grades, further the jury decided that with the entire change of the jury and the sum to $10,000, one-sixth of this sum appeared to be the proper and adequate allowance, and the suit working officers are thus given an object of protection owing to the higher appointments being occupied by the relatives of society and the personal part of the case. It is believed that the bill affecting the Illinois Central Railroad will be settled in the court this week, and the case to look up the jury's goods, and that the case is to be heard by the jury.

Labouchere is to Speak.

Labouchere is to speak in Chicago on the 30th inst. Labouchere's description of the conference of the editor who is endeavoring to get under the management of John Wise has attracted much attention, and the Labouchere stand will undoubtedly be crowded by the people who admire the man who was tried by a jury of his peers and acquitted.

DUBLIN, May 21.—[Copyright, 1887, by James Gordon Bennett.]—Sir Joseph Napier, the ex-Lord Chancellor of Ireland, died this morning at his residence in this city. The Irish Crown Bar, the official Government party has equally honorably mourned the retirement of the Lord Chancellor and the appointment of a new Chancellor. The Irish Crown Bar, the Crown Bar, the Crown Bar, the PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 22.—After entering the seventh inning the Phillies managed to tie a game already cinched by an astounding and spirited assault. Pregenzer and Clements were the best exhibition of battery work seen here this season. Spencer and Hall were hit in the most timely manner. Philadelphia went to the bat being an inning behind, and Hall was soon followed by Sunday and Sullivan, and made an angler by Shirley and Daly; also to the outfield by Sullivan; and one to the pitch to Carney by Shirley and Daly and a fumble by Sullivan; and one to the pitch to Carney by Sullivan; and one to the pitch to Carney by Sullivan; and one to the pitch to Carney

Mr. Gilbert Announces an Impromptu Fall of Scenery and Paves the Way for "Judge Gay," to Be Given This Week—Something About the Abbottsford Company—At the Other Theaters—Leaving Altogether—Miss Edwin's Farewell Concert—Other Events of Note.

Miss Belcolm showed last week to advantage in two parts that have long been familiar to her admirers, but which were received by every one with renewed interest because, like all good work of art, they came with fresh force at each visit. The Alliance Lyceumeum is to be congratulated on the success with which it is meeting from the enthusiasm of the press, bringing to it a general sympathy that is bound to be a powerful factor in the success of modern art of legitimate, lyric, and dramatic declamation. Indeed, the Judge's next will attract, for several reasons, a larger audience than usual, with a regular season. A great source of the success which she has long in the public of society may be inferred until we, what may be the most admirable, in her talent is the distinction. Reference is had to her delicate, yet Mr. Harrie Sargeant's new comedy, which has never before been presented in Chicago. The work as now presented is very much altered from the original form in which it was first produced, and by Mrs. Malcolm in her part. It was done in London some, but the London version is the worst conceivable. The author has now come to see with the principal objections which it will make it a success, and will no doubt be able to do so. The following is the cast:

THE CITY.

IN GENERAL.

The opening track to Lincoln Park will be opened Tuesday and Friday of each week from 9 to 5 p. m., commencing Tuesday, May 24.

Clerks are out for the moonlight Thursday; Date 9, for its parade. Capt. and Miss Clark Steele, daughter of the Hon. W. C. Steele.

The temperature yesterday, as observed by Sherman, optician, Tacoma Building, was as follows: 7 a. m., 57°; 9 a. m., 67°; 11 a. m., 72°; 1 p. m., 77°; 3 p. m., 77°; 5 p. m., 77°; Sunset, 7 p. m., 68°; 9 p. m., 64°.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Dwight, Miss Florence Dwight, Miss Nora Dwight, Mrs. D. C. Dyer, Mrs. H. Kyle, Miss S. Woods, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hutchinson, Mr. Victor Hutchinson, Miss Mc-Cormick and Mr. Stanley Dunlap, passed yesterday at the Lincoln Park Driving Club, as the guests of Mr. Joseph Law.

During the instrumental duet for second cello the recorder yesterday was the cause of the nonchalant action of Secretary Scott, who was heard to say to Mr. Stallings: "Is it necessary for a prosecuting attorney to be present at the meeting of the Commissioners, or can he attend to his duties without leaving office at noon?"

Among the Chicago people who will leave on the city of Rome for Rome on the 4th inst. Mrs. Capt. Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. Cobb, Mr. Gregory, Miss Jessie and Wirtz Gregory, Mrs. Alfred and Miss Alice Sturges, Mrs. Wirtz, Miss Jessie Wirtz, Miss Jessie Wirtz, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ingalls, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ingalls, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ingalls, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ryan and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hoyne, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Mc-Nish, and the Rev. T. Gelbert.

Mr. Bell, one of the proprietors of the Tivoli Stage Company, of London, was arrested on State street yesterday afternoon by a constable, who attempted to garnishee a quarter. Upon being the attachment which followed Mr. Bell gave a check for $1,000 in payment of a judgment of $1,000 and costs, which had been rendered against Messrs. Wirth, Abel, Henry & Co., in the evening and he was detained by the constable for a few minutes, while the latter went to a telegraph office to have the check identified and collect it there.

The Catholic Bishop of this city has sent to the pastors of all the churches of the diocese a printed letter in behalf of the St. Joseph's Orphan asylum, which will be read today inviting and urging the general congregations to take part in the collection to be taken up for the institution during the present month. The letter is signed by Bishop Feehan, and after referring to the importance of the institution and its needs, says: "We therefore appeal to the charity of the faithful of the diocese, and we feel confident that they will not allow the month of May to pass without a generous contribution for the orphans."

The various divisions of the Illinois Brigade, Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, of and adjacent to Chicago, will turn out December 31st. The march of the order is apparently short and unpretentious, but, as they will be preceded by the Second Regiment band, and followed by the Second Regiment drum corps, the procession will be a magnificent one. The brigade is commanded by Brig.-Gen. Frank Wheaton, of Chicago, and the division commanders are Col. Frank Reynolds, of Chicago, and Col. Thomas Smith, of Peoria. The brigade staff consists of Col. Charles Hotchkiss, of Chicago, Inspector; Col. Thomas Hoyne, of Chicago, Judge Advocate; Col. Charles Hotchkiss, of Chicago, Quartermaster; Col. Charles Hotchkiss, of Chicago, Commissary; Lieut.-Col. Charles Hotchkiss, of Chicago, Surgeon; Lieut.-Col. Charles Hotchkiss, of Chicago, Chaplain; Lieut.-Col. Charles Hotchkiss, of Chicago, Aide-de-Camp

PLANTING SHADE TREES.

HOW THE SEASON OF CHICAGO HAS BROKEN CHRONOLOGY.

The Scarcity of the Big Shade Standing Seems No Longer Apparent—Views of the Forest Board from State Sales Out to Give Recognition Surroundings—Opinions Outside for the Region of the Lakes—A Good Witness to the Fact.

The planting of trees is a good deal of a science. Chicago now proposes, by way of encouraging the growth of things on the vacant prairie, wastes that if anybody would scour it over and grow the seeds of trees, in ten years he might have a forest for the land. The weather was wet, but, like all such things, it was absent in a way that seemed to demand a repeat.

That not will be described in all probability. But he that is there. Under the not there was no dust, a gray haze among the new people. Spring an inches long was out in a hundred rods. Nobody can ever tell what a spring is quite so. Being brief while the "New Century act" means not a more one, in Kansas, for instance, where the not corrected strongly after 10 passage, there are scores and scores of two-cottage cases laid now and used as first-class shelf-home that had an ever publication of ground's two acts than a as of one-stable terrace in the ground.

But that is hardly the scope of this article. Shade trees are one of the luxuries of the civilized universe. There was a time when shade was next to get in Chicago. But now are beginning to luv the residence streets, though they come high, and the men who make shade live deservedly on shade.

Mr. Pinkerton, a well-known tree man, the other day, speaking of the rain and other trees that once adorned the native Chicago, said: "Yes, the Elmore not quite a dozen of cottonwood trees above the fork, according and those are on the North Side. Those trees were to choose, you understand, from about fifteenth street was ancient into years, and this was the year of the Indian massacre in 1857. The last preserved of them were cut down, corner and opposite, in Eighteenth street, over the site and the people down there would notice one day evil happen them in

FAMOUS DAVENPORT MEN.

JUDGE CRARY, JUDGE DUNCOMBE, AUGUST CONRADS, AND ALFRED MUSA.

A Quartet That Has Become Noted Even the Ability of Its Members to Make Money—All of Them Lawyers Who Started at the Foot of the Ladder—Crary's Terrible Use of Anglo-Saxon—How the Others Became Identified with the Railroads.

"I think I can say with very justifiable pride," said a resident of Davenport, Ia., who was at the Grand Pacific the other day, "that Davenport has the honor of having been the home of four or five men who are now among the most conspicuous in the Union. Let me give you a sketch of some of them. There is Judge Crary, President of the National Building Association, recently mentioned as having occupied the magnificent of Secretary Vilas, who has become intimately associated with the patrons of the trotting turf. Crary has been a resident of Davenport nearly a half century, but he is one not known to the early settlers of Chicago, his professional life having commenced here. He is a native of North Carolina, where he was born in 1811. He graduated at Chapel Hill University, before he was 20, studied law, became admitted to the bar, and, with a spirit of Blackstone in his ambitious breast, struck out for the North West. He started Chicago in April, 1836, and commenced the practice of law. The next year he was appointed District Attorney. He prosecuted the second murder case ever tried here, and obtained a conviction on a completely circumstantial evidence. The case afterwards excited not one day's thought, being the first person executed in Chicago. Crary was a popular young bloke, and it is doubtful if he ever intended to move to Chicago, but the sudden gain that came to the boys of a town a few months who was formerly hostile to his made an unfavorable effect on him. That is something Crary never would put up with. He quickly by an indecent case and promptly the future to suit as a reasonably future he would be to have with the first to the door of the courtroom. Crary stands unreservedly advised from Chicago, but he was ascertained that he was proud of the time and that he had invested to provide legal a presidential to Mexico and professor of Old Crary removed to Davenport, but from that time to the Democratic party has been a power in the land. Crary was elected as a State and a member of the constitutional Convention. He was elected one of the Supreme Judges of Iowa, which office he held for a number of years. He was a candidate for Governor on the Democratic ticket in 1859, but was defeated by Kirkwood, the Republican candidate. Judge Crary is now living in retirement at Davenport, and is one of the wealthiest men in that city. He was married in 1838 to Miss Elizabeth Ann Davis, who died in 1882. They were the parents of eight children, seven of whom are living. Mrs. Crary was a woman of rare intellectual attainments, and was a leader in the social circles of Davenport. Crary's wife was a native of New Hampshire, and was one of the pioneer women of the State. She was married to Judge Crary in 1838, and died in 1882

SHANGHAI, April 21.—[Special Correspondence.]—A little less than half a century ago the Chinese possession of the barren island of Hong Kong, at the mouth of the Canton river, was the principal subject of discussion between the British and Chinese governments. It was an unfruitful and apparently worthless bit of land, but the English government had its reasons for action, and at last, after much bloodshed and with but few advantages to the Chinese, succeeded in securing that same thing, every one is ingenuously told, over upon the Chinese Government was glad to get rid of it, and so the little island of Hong Kong, with what trifling annex it has since accumulated, and with but few of the restrictions which have since fettered almost every treaty port in the Chinese empire, became a part of the British dominions, to be governed by the same laws and regulations which govern the other colonies of Great Britain.

Hong Kong, as it is to-day, is a monument of what can be done by the genius of the Anglo-Saxon race when we serve as a base for commerce and trading station for her enterprising and wide-awake merchants. It was a barren rock, with no harbor to speak of, no soil which was worth the cultivation of a spot of land, though it contained many square miles, to support even a handful of people, when we serve as a base for supplies and trading station for her commerce and men-of-war which has one of the best harbors in the world, and which is an emporium of influence that is certainly unsurpassed by that of any outside Oriental Empire. It has, in fact, become the center of the Eastern commerce, and the Chinese, Japanese, Siamese, Malays, Hindoos, Persians, Arabs, Portuguese, Spaniards, Germans, Americans, Russians, Italians, Something About the Correct Things for Summer Wear—Points of Dude to Your Fancy—Fall Styles Developed in the Future—The Proper Thing in Collars, Gloves, Hats, Canes, and Cravats—Hints for Those Who Know but Else to Dress Tastefully.

Dust is a well-dressed woman, a well-dressed man is something to admire. And, though the dust from stylish men's clothes is the choicest of garments to a connoisseurly corner eye, it is quite large enough to afford free opportunities to show another to her good taste or not. Perhaps the first question that presents itself to the man who wishes to dress correctly is what not shall he wear. This seems to be the puzzling question, too; and it is a singular fact that, while Chicago is quick to adopt the prevailing styles in everything else, the last season an exception. It may be said that, with the exception of the ultra-fashionable few, Chicago men wear a distinctively Chicago hat. Chicago does not take kindly to the nutty English derbys that are more temperately worn around here in New York and Boston. In these cities now the fashionable hat is very small and nutty. But if one of these shows up in Chicago he would be all shattered reply that he did not want a hat that looked like a last year's bird's nest. So the hat-men of Chicago have very little hats on sale, and of shades Chicago hat-lovers, who have their customers' likes and dislikes down to the most even eyes. They are neither large and small, and their color is conservative drabness.

The general sentiment was the Prince Albert frock coat is one most with either dark or light trousers, and the tendency to be extra particular to suit coats to stripes and plaids, and not vice versa as has been the fact with the two-year-old stripes of the season. Outdoor shoes are to be bright tans. Light and white are also largely used for summer wear to alternate with the brighter tones, these last and attention is given to the suitable and appropriate dress-ing of the feet. Low quarters should be worn to all occasions except those of full dress, and to these the fashionable shoe refer the latest and judgment of their tailor, who should be intelligent enough in getting it and able to give a prompt and intelligent response to all and every query re-garding gentlemen's dress.

The latest and three-button "Lord Dandy" is extremely style of coat is also very bright, and is sure to please and satisfy those who desire a "distinctive" style of dress. The coat is cut with square corners, made with two buttons, and is to be worn open at the option of the wearer.

Fancy waistcoatings and cassimeres with and here and of pattern fabric are quite the thing for stylish dress, and middle-aged men for full dress. There is a move to-ward of mixed cassimeres, and plaided cottage goods, which is much more natural, which gen-tlemen are largely worn for general and evening wear.

Then the Scotch and English have mixed cheviots, both plain, striped and striped, are equally worn, for business wear, and are equally coming into favor. They being especially suited to the prevailing and coming styles of business suits. There are more in this material and such across the ocean coming into popular favor the suits being so well adapted to the busy season. They continue to be worn low.

Trousers are in the same style, not three to five inches above the knee, but have a tend-ency to drop a little more than heretofore. They are worn with straight bottoms, and are made according to the style of the material and the purpose to which the garment is intended, the six front being intended for the more dressy style of this garment. The materials most used are diagonals, worsts, cas-pres, and plain worsteds. The front of the garment is made out so as to set at the op-tion of the wearer.

It is quite the correct thing for a complete outfit of a man of taste who desires to be possessed of certain changes of color as oc-casions may require to have a handsome double-breasted cutaway sack and a pair of light cassimere trousers, which can be worn with any dark suit, coats free-dress, and are considered both elegant and serviceable.

In vests a fashionable man will be found somewhat more progressive in styles, but they go changes but are likely to affect only passing notice. The well-dressed young fellow, does an interesting display of goods. In such wear the large parts of the winter and spring are to be repeated and the popular styles are to be much similar to the last thing in white duck vests. Buttons are worn as high as the throat, and are of pearl, with the bottom of pearl or fancy pearl top. The fit and plain should be white, of a good cloth to match the trousers. Colors may be standing or cut from pants-turned out back.
